

FIVE CANDIDATES IN FIELD FOR SENATORSHIP

Senatorial Convention of Fifteenth-Sixteenth District Held at Idlewild Park Today

No Nomination Had Been Made Up Until 4 O'clock
--All Counties are Represented by Full Delegations.

Miller and Haas were nominated on the second ballot.

In the commodious hall of the theatre that nestles in the vast enclosure of the "Old Fort," otherwise known as Idlewild Park—that striking reminder of a prehistoric race that once held full sway in this part of the country, was assembled on Tuesday afternoon the representatives of the people of the Fifteenth-Sixteenth Senatorial district, for the purpose of selecting two candidates for state senator.

The district is composed of the counties of Delaware, Licking, Muskingum, and Perry.

More than ordinary interest was taken in the event all over the district and the result was that every county in the district was largely represented.

The basis representation in the convention was one delegate for every 100 votes cast for Governor Harmon, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, at the election held November 2, 1908, each county to be entitled to one delegate for every fraction of 50 or more votes cast for Governor Harmon. Upon this basis the several counties in the district were entitled to the following number of delegates: Delaware, 31; Licking, 31; Muskingum, 25, and Perry 40, making a total of 127 delegates, and necessary to a choice 115 votes.

The advance guard, representing the close adherents of the several candidates in the district arrived in Newark Monday evening and laid their wires for the fight of Tuesday.

The first delegation to arrive Tuesday morning were those of Muskingum and Perry county delegates going to Zanesville, and from that point coming to Newark. At 10:30 o'clock a special Columbus, Delaware and Marion car, bearing the thirty-four delegates to the convention, besides a number of boosters for that county's candidate, arrived, all sporting Haas badges. The hustling among the different candidates began in earnest with the arrival of the Delaware bunch, and while many of the delegates and friends of the candidates were loitering to select their choice, it was very difficult to predict the outcome.

The Sherwood and Hotel Warner were the headquarters for the delegates of the several counties, and some of the candidates had secured rooms where they held continuous receptions, receiving their friends.

It was understood from the first that Muskingum county would offer a candidate in the person of Patrick J. Casey, while Perry would also present the name of W. A. Hite as a suitable candidate. Delaware was not behind hand and her delegates were getting in some good work. Licking county had two candidates in the field, Hon. W. A. Aldorf of Johnstown, who was seeking a re-nomination, and C. W. Miller of this city.

The delegates from the different counties held their caucuses during the morning, selecting their committees on rules and order of business, resolutions, permanent organization and credentials and also selected their senatorial committeemen and also filled vacancies.

During the morning Colonel Cliff Rosebrough was busily engaged in decorating the stage and auditorium of the theatre at the park, and it presented a very attractive appearance, the space for the different delegations being designated by the county standards.

allotted them, which were designated with county standards.

Mr. James J. Hill of Johnstown, chairman of the Senatorial committee, called the convention to order, and introduced the temporary chairman of the convention, Mr. F. E. Power of Muskingum county, and secretary, Mr. John Montgomery of Perry county.

Mr. Power, upon taking the chair, said that it afforded him great satisfaction to preside over the convention, and in a short speech brimming over with enthusiasm thanked the convention for the honor conferred on him. He eulogized Governor Harmon. He counseled harmony.

The secretary called the roll of counties for committee on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, resolutions and senatorial committee, after which the convention adjourned for five minutes to allow the different committees times in which to make their reports.

The committees were as follows: RULES AND ORDER OF BUSINESS—Delaware—C. R. Wing, Licking—E. J. Koos, Muskingum—Frank Knisely, Perry—James McLaw.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION. Delaware—J. R. Solloway, Licking—E. L. Weisgerber, Muskingum—George T. Orr, Perry—George Wetzell.

SENATORIAL COMMITTEE. Muskingum—M. S. Martin, Zanesville: Judge Frank L. Reed, Zanesville.

Perry—Wm. Joyce, Corning; Wm. Noel, Thornville.

Delaware—Fred D. Baker, Sunbury; Wm. Wells, Delaware.

Licking—J. D. Gard, Toloso; Jas. J. Hill, Johnstown.

RESOLUTIONS. Delaware—Clint Elaney, Licking—W. P. Young, Muskingum—Edward Hillier, Perry—Charles E. Downey.

At this juncture a recess of 15 minutes was taken in order to allow the various committees to make their reports.

The committee on permanent organization reported in favor of organizing the temporary organization as its permanent organization.

The committee on resolutions made a report through its chairman, Mr. William P. Young.

The chairman of the committee reported that there was no contest and the report of the committee was adopted.

The report of the committee on rules and order of business was adopted.

When the secretary called for nominations, Mr. J. R. Solloway, solicitor of Delaware, in an eloquent and impressive speech presented the name of Mr. W. E. Haas, mayor of Delaware, as the candidate of the Delaware of Delaware county as his candidate for senator. His speech was a most forcible one, and was warmly received by the convention.

When Licking county was called, Attorney R. F. McDonald presented the name of Hon. W. A. Aldorf for a re-nomination as state senator from the Fifteenth-Sixteenth Senatorial district.

Mr. Charles L. Flory, one of Newark's brightest young attorneys, then presented the name of Attorney C. W. Miller of Newark as a candidate who was able to represent the best interests of the people of Licking county in the Ohio Senate. Mr. Flory paid a high compliment to Governor Judson Harmon, which caught the convention, and his nominating speech throughout was one of the best made. At the conclusion of his speech the applause was almost deafening.

Mr. Thomas Fagarty of Zanesville, in a short but telling speech, presented the name of Patrick J. Casey as Muskingum county's candidate.

Mr. W. E. Gordon of Somerset presented the name of W. A. Hite as a suitable candidate for senator.

Up as if the hour of going to rest at 4 o'clock, no ballot had been taken, the convention taking a recess of 15 minutes.

RAILROAD SUITS WILL BE DROPPED

Pres. Taft and Advisers Hold Conference With Railroad Officials

ACTION IS A SURPRISE

Railway Presidents Wear a Satisfied Smile Having Got What They Desired From Administration.

Washington, June 7.—The agreement between President Taft and the 25 mid-western railroads to postpone action on the proposed increased rate until the new railroad law became effective put a new light on the situation today in the house. The senate bill is worded so that it would not become effective until 60 days after passage. The president, the railroads and the administration urge amending this to make the law effective immediately. Such amendment may be made only by the conference committee. The insurgents stand ready to vote for the acceptance of the senate bill rather than trust the measure to the conference committee, as they fear it would be amended far more than the changing of the date of effectiveness.

Washington, June 7.—For a week it has been understood that the suits brought to enforce the proposed rate increases by the Western railroads were intended to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law and to penalize the railroads that have violated it.

Last night, at the conclusion of the night, heralded White House conference between President Taft, his cabinet advisers and the big railroad officials, it was made known that the government's purpose was primarily to prevent rate increases and that if the railroads would hold off and follow the provisions of the new railroad law, the suit would not be pressed. This is quite at variance with the general impression obtained from the Attorney General Wickham at the time the suits were filed.

The attorney general stated at that time that the government was not so much concerned about the increases in freight rates as it was about violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, and that there was a definite determination to enforce the anti-trust law. In brief, it is being said today that the railroad presidents got what they wanted from the administration: They will not be prosecuted under the Sherman law, and since it has been demonstrated that the Sherman law has teeth, that particular statute has been a course of grave concern to the great corporations of the country who fear it is suggested that they may have violated it, the railroad officials will gladly forego the increased rates. They affected only one-half of 1 per cent of their tonnage anyhow.

The belief was expressed today that all of the other railroads of the country which have filed increased rates or have had such a plan under consideration will abide by the agreement reached today with the 24 railroads named as defendants in the recent suit.

There will be a conference at the White House today, in which President Taft, the New York Central railroad, President McCrea of the Pennsylvania, and other officials representing the railroads in the western territory will be present. That they will acquiesce in the proposed increase in rates is practically taken for granted today.

Everyone is looking forward to the outcome. Some have hoped that the outcome will be a compromise, but it is believed that the administration should insist on the full measure.

TWO HUNDRED REPORTED KILLED BY EARTHQUAKE

Naples, June 7.—The most severe earthquake since that at Messina shook the Campania province last night. Early reports say 200 have been killed. The property loss will reach $2,000,000. Troops were dispatched to the scene.

King Victor Emanuel has left to take personal charge. The terrified people are camping on the hills and imploring the protection of the saint. The Italian Red Cross Society is working in the devastated territory.

AIRSHIP GLIDE THE LATEST

Chicago, June 7.—Members of the United Professional Teachers of America, who opened their annual convention here, are demonstrating the aviation dance or the airship glide, which they say will become more popular than the waltz or tango. "In dancing now," said a lecturer before the convention, "people hop too much; they ought to glide. They wriggle too frequently; they ought to float. They work themselves into a sweat; they should take it coolly and aviate."

IS CHAMPION HORSE THIEF

Pittsburg, Pa., June 7.—After spending a great part of his life in prison, Peter Zimmermann, alias John Snyder, aged 37 years, who boasts that he is the champion horse thief of the world, was released from the Western Penitentiary, after serving 10 years and 6 months for horse stealing. Zimmermann does not expect to be at liberty long. Unless he is able to get work soon he declares that he will again steal a horse so that he will be sent to prison. He says he is without friends or relatives, and in order to live, will have to return to prison.

DEFENSE

In Kohler Case, Now Having Their Defense Before Civil Service Commission at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—Fred Kohler, suspended chief of police, began his defense before the civil service commission yesterday afternoon on charges filed to oust him, after the prosecution had brought its case suddenly to a close without offering testimony on 11 of the 23 counts. Patrolman Piper, "the man who looks like Kohler," the chief's private secretary, was the first witness. The prosecution rested its case after testimony offered by Edward Anderson, a brother of Police Lieutenant Anderson, had been ruled out by President Holding on the ground that it referred to incidents that happened after the filing of the charges on May 24.

Other witnesses were waiting in the ante-room, but the prosecution did not see fit to call them. In all about 70 of approximately 100 witnesses summoned were put on the stand by the prosecution.

President Holding notified the defense that it would be unnecessary for it to produce any testimony bearing on charges 12 to 20 inclusive, as the prosecution had not offered any proof to support them or had offered insufficient testimony. These charges include those of gross immorality, inefficiency and incompetency in office and disobedience.

Charge 17 accuses him of misfeasance and incompetency. In that a certain saloon keeper paid some one $50 every month as "kick money." Witnesses were examined by the defense to disprove charges of drunkenness. Piper, the chief's double, said he was the officer who assaulted a man on East Sixth street, and not Kohler.

The defense presented an imposing array of witnesses to refute the charges of drunkenness and incompetency against suspended Chief Kohler today.

Henry R. Rickey, editor in chief of the Scripps-McRae league of newspapers, testified that he has known Kohler for 20 years and never saw him take a drink of liquor or saw traces of it in his bearings.

JUDGE SCORES DRY DETECTIVES

Marion, June 7.—Judge William E. Schofield yesterday afternoon branded Edward Rist and Jack Powers, two dry detectives, as despicable scoundrels who would stoop to anything, and severely criticized Mayor J. G. Seiter, when he dismissed four temperance bar proprietors who had been fined $20 each by the mayor for alleged bootlegging. The exclamation was the most severe one ever handed down from a local bench.

The two detectives admitted during the trials that they had been arrested many times for drunkenness and fighting and that in several cases they refused to file affidavits against saloonkeepers here because they were paid money not to do so. Judge Schofield arraigned Mayor Seiter for permitting two men to use his court of justice to ply their business, and also for permitting men who confessed blackmail under oath, to go free.

Charge 17 accuses him of misfeasance and incompetency. In that a certain saloon keeper paid some one $50 every month as "kick money." Witnesses were examined by the defense to disprove charges of drunkenness. Piper, the chief's double, said he was the officer who assaulted a man on East Sixth street, and not Kohler.

JOHNSON TO MANAGE HIMSELF

Little Will Not Be Succeeded by Nolan as Previously Announced

RICKARD GETS INTO GAME

May Induce Black Fighter to Re-instate His Former Manager on Account of Contract.

San Francisco, June 7.—Contrary to previous announcements Jack Johnson today declared that he had selected no one to succeed George Little as manager, that Billy Nolan had not been appointed, and that he intended to manage his own affairs in future.

It is believed that Tex Rickard, promoter of the big fight had much to do with Johnson's determination not to add Nolan to his staff. Rickard and Nolan cordially dislike each other, following a war over the handling of the Gans-Nelson pictures. Rickard promoted the fight and Nolan managed Nelson, immediately after Johnson announced that Nolan was to his manager. Nolan got on foot a plan to depose Rickard as referee of the fight. The personal animosity between the two men is now being caused Nolan to make this move. Any way it was all ended after much palavering Nolan was not Johnson's manager.

There is considerable talk today that Rickard, who seems to have great influence over Johnson is trying to persuade the Black champion to re-instate Little. Rickard knows, it is said, that Little has an iron-bound contract, and that he is in a position to cause a lot of trouble if he is not satisfied. Little has already engaged an attorney to look after his interests and is threatening all manner of dire things.

Johnson believes he can hire and discharge managers at will, contract or no contract. Rickard knows of this inclination on the part of the negro and is desirous of avoiding legal complications on the eve of the impending battle. For this reason it is said he is moving heaven and earth to patch up the differences between Johnson and Little. Little claims that the $10,000 forfeit money posted in Johnson's name for the Jeffries match really belongs to him, and that in addition Johnson owes him $15,000 for money advanced. Little also declares his contract calls for 25 per cent of all the money Johnson makes either in fighting moving pictures or theatrical engagements. This contract, which Little says has a year to run, means about $50,000 to the ex-manager, and he will not give up without a fight. It is said the real cause of the split between Johnson and Little was Little's action in writing Johnson's mother and sister to come home to take charge of the cooking for the training camp.

The first matinee of the second series between the Lima Orioles and the Molders, staged at Wehrle Park Monday afternoon, resulted in a walkaway for the Newark contingent by the comfortable score of 6 to 2, and satisfied the fans present that there is class to the erstwhile downtrodden Molders.

It was ladies' day, and though a slight rain was falling when the game was called, there was a good crowd of the loyal fanatics present to see the initial contest of the series. Although the Portsmouth gang was taken into camp in three of the four games played, yet the champs were feared, for Lima has always been a tough nut for the locals to crack, but if the next two games are as easy taking as the first, fans of Molderville will be well satisfied.

One accident, though fortunately not a bad one, marred the day, for Key Hanna, the clever little short fielder, was hit by a batted ball during batting practice and injured. Key was fielding one ball when another struck him in the left eye, breaking the skin and badly bruising his face. He was placed in Rev. J. A. Bennett's buggy and hurried to the Sanitarium, and there it was found that the injury was not as serious as was first supposed, and no stitches were taken in closing the wound. The eyesight will not be impaired, the attending physician says.

The accident to Hanna resulted in the switching of the lineup, and Meyers was sent to short. Riehl to second and White was placed on first. The changing of the positions did not shatter the winning combination, although some superstitious fans feared for the game. The game had a sort of Newark tinge from the first inning, for snappy work robbed the champs of any chance they might have had. Newark, however, scored in the first frame and would have counted twice but for a close decision of Umpire Phelan at the plate.

Kendall couldn't get the ball past Munk, but Meyers met the sphere and clubbed for two sacks. Franken singled over the short field and Meyers went to third. "Red" then stole second and Riehl hit to McClintock, who got Meyers at the plate, although the decision was very close. Riehl was safe at first on the play, and then White clubbed, Franken scoring, and both runners went along the paths when Doherty fought with the hide. Varley was out on strikes.

Lima tied up the score in the next chapter, when Textor led off with a single to the left lot. Houtz sacrificed him and he scored on Riehl's single. Newman sacrificed Riley and Weller singled to right center, but Riley was thrown out at the plate by Franken.

The big aerial trip of Mr. Glenn Curtiss Munk was scheduled for the third frame and it was pulled off according to Hoyle. Meyers was the first up and he singled. Franken walked out four wide ones, but Riehl hit to Munk and Meyers was killed at the third corner. Then Textor pulled off his passed ball stunt and the runners advanced, and Franken scored when White hit to deep right and Riehl, putting on his speeding clothes, beat the throw home. Varley was walked and when Conley singled

"BLINKY" MOCK BREAKS HIS ANKLE

Marion, June 7—Marion apparently gave yesterday's game away in the first two innings, then came from behind and won from Lancaster, 4 to 3. Russell played third for the Diggers and his base running and Epler's throwing won the game. Homer Mock broke his ankle sliding into home plate and will be out of the game all season. Score: R. H. E. Marion 4 9 3 Lancaster 3 4 1 Batteries—Goulait, Zmich and Reilly; Mock, Chickinger, Dunnick and Welch. Umpires—Price and Mason.

SHOEMAKERS HIT AND WIN GAME

Portsmouth, June 7—Portsmouth bunched five hits for four runs in the third and overcame the Babes' lead and won easily, 7 to 3. The batting and base running of O'Day was a feature. Score: R. H. E. Portsmouth 7 4 2 Chillicothe 3 4 4 Batteries—Miller and Weinburg; Harrison and Haley. Umpire—Raphan.

Behind the Screen

The Lima ball team is registered at the Star Hotel, while in this city. Goulait, umpire, is also stopping at the Star.

Key Hanna, who was hurt by being hit in the eye by a batted ball during practice yesterday, is able to be about although he suffers from the injury. He will probably be out of the game for several days.

Some system to this fronting of the Lima champs. The bunch doesn't look much as dangerous as they did on the first trip here, and Newark expects to take the long end of at least two out of three games.

Newark fans were surprised to learn that "Blinky" Mock had been traded to the Chillicothe management. He was hitting and fielding nicely, but because the streaky plan was put in his operation.

Pretty tough luck for "Blinky" Mock to break his leg yesterday. That will weaken the Lancaster staff of twelfth men, for Mock was a clever pitcher and one that would take the majority of the games.

Manager Herrick has released Porter the Elson of Bellairs and Outboard Varley of Buffalo. Underwood will probably be played in field and the twirling staff is now composed of Charlie and Ray Hollingsworth, Gossard and LaSallett.

Lineup of the Molders now looks pretty sweet, and there are some good stickers mixed up in the hitting list, too.

After the game tomorrow the Molders will take the road, going to Portsmouth for four games, and then to Lima before returning. Here is hoping we can report a dose at Portsmouth that we gave them here.

BOYCOTT'S END IS IN SIGHT

Cleveland, June 7—After a conference with local labor leaders which lasted several hours, John Mitchell, representing the American Federation of Labor, and Ben Johnson, president of the American Baseball League, presented a tentative agreement which it is hoped will end the union boycott of baseball parks where the Cleveland team plays.

This plan will be submitted today to the Cleveland Baiting Trusts Council and the Cleveland Allied Printing Trades Council, and it is hoped by them will become effective at once.

The boycott was declared at the opening of the season on account of the alleged unfair treatment by the Cleveland club of union labor. It has shown to most of the large cities of the country, where the local unions have taken up the fight.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

The record for June weddings will be kept in this year as about twenty are already scheduled to take place, the contracting parties being Newark residents, former Newark residents or young people very well known here.

There are no large local weddings scheduled for this week but four out of town affairs will prove very interesting here.

The marriage of Miss Edna Hall and Mr. M. C. Russell will take place at the home of the bride's parents in Delaware, O. on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. W. W. Card of Newark will be matron of honor and there will be a number of Newark guests present.

The wedding of Miss Edna Cones and Mr. John C. Prior of Cranville, will be celebrated at the residence of the parents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cones, 1017 Franklin avenue, Columbus at eight o'clock this evening.

The father of the bridegroom, Rev. C. M. Prior, will conduct the service. He will be assisted by Rev. Dr. N. W. Good. There will be one hundred guests. Miss Edna Cones, sister of the bride-to-be, will be maid of honor and Mr. Walter Hampton will be best man. He and Mr. Prior were graduated in the same class at Denison University, Granville, Robert Cones, a young cousin of the bride-to-be, and Caroline Rutherford, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Rutherford, will be ribbon bearers.

Misses Ellen Roberts and Edith Diehl will sing and Miss Anna De Milita will play on the harp. The bride-to-be is a former pupil of La Salle Seminary of Auburndale, Mass.; also of the New England Conservatory of Music, at Boston, and among her former schoolmates in attendance will be Mrs. Archibald Gardner of Boston, Mass., formerly Miss Bright Hilliard of this city. Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hilliard of West Church street will also be among the guests. Mr. Prior is a civil engineer.

Wednesday evening the wedding of Miss Ruth J. Clark and Mr. Edgar Willard Seeds took place, in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Columbus. Miss Clark is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Madison Clark of West Ninth avenue, formerly of Newark. Mr. Seeds is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Seeds of 55 Parsons avenue, Columbus.

The wedding of Miss Minnie Norris and Mr. Arthur Davidson will be celebrated at half after seven o'clock on Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Granville.

Heart and Home Talks

The Woman With Unobtrusive Virtues.
Certain virtues are essential to a pleasant world. Sifting down from the large to the small, certain virtues are necessary to a happy and well-ordered home, certain ones to the individual life, if it is to be useful and of good repute. But it is not necessary to thrust these virtues down peoples' throats as it were, to give them such prominence that they stifle all other pleasant things of life.

A woman whose home has hardwood floors has every floor in the house scrubbed every day. When her husband comes home, he is handed a damp cloth to wipe off his shoes before he can enter the sacred precincts of this spotless house; the children must take off their shoes before entering it. One would like to hear the private opinion of that husband and those children on cleanliness. Cleanliness is no doubt a virtue, but it should be an unobtrusive virtue. A clean, neat home is essential to happiness, but the maintaining of cleanliness should not make everyone uncomfortable or it defeats the very purpose of its being.

Being useful is a worthy ambition in life. But one can be too everlastingly useful. The woman who is so useful that she never has a moment to enjoy books, or flowers, or pictures, or the beguiling ways of a baby, is carrying the virtue too far. She is missing some of the greater things of life by reason of giving all her time and energy to the lesser.

Bovee says, "We give our best affections to the beautiful, only our second-best to the useful." Beauty and grace and charm and laughter and other lighter delights all have their place in life. Don't crush them out by the weight of your virtues.

There are many such virtues, all essential, but they should be unobtrusive. They have a necessary work to perform in life, but they need to be kept in their place. To give them undue prominence is showing as poor conception of the value of things as to bring the furnace up out of the cellar and give it the place of honor in the parlor because it is so useful in heating the house.

The woman who has given the essential virtues a proper place in her life, but who is not eternally talking about them or priding herself upon them is a satisfaction to herself and a joy to her friends.

RECIPES FOR JUNE 8, 1910.
Sago and Chicken Soup. From the carcass of a chicken a thin stock is made; flavor with a slice of onion and the ends of a bunch of celery. Finish by cooking in it one heaping teaspoonful of sago to each quart until the sago is perfectly transparent.

Strawberry Sauce. Beat one half cupful of butter to a cream and add gradually one cupful of pulverized sugar, beating in the while. When light and creamy add the juice of one egg, unbeaten and stir until it is well mixed. Mash one cupful of ripe strawberries, cover with sugar, and let stand for one half hour. Put the sauce over hot water and stir until it begins to foam, add the strawberries and serve at once.

BEAUTY MORE THAN SKIN DEEP.
A Good Complexion Must Come from Within.

The natural desire of every ambitious woman is to have a clear skin and a beautiful complexion.

Not every woman can be a Diana or Juno, but the beauty of freshness and the bloom of a clear skin are within the reach of every woman who will make the effort.

It is all a matter of intelligent trying. If the bowels are inactive, if the liver is not working properly, if the poisonous waste and refuse are not expelled promptly from the system, complexion is sure to show the effect.

The only right way to remove pimples, moth spots and blotches, and clear up a cloudy complexion, is to go right to the root of the trouble with the proper remedy.

The one remedy that will cure constipation, improve the complexion, tone up the liver and insure a clear, velvety skin is Seaver's Laxative Tonic Tablets.

You should have confidence, for the druggist will pay you back your money if the tablets do not benefit you as claimed.

A Promoter of Good Citizenship

In a recent interview in the New York Times, Mr. McEwan of New York, said:

"A truly local and wisely managed building association has been appropriately called more than once an institution for the promotion of good citizenship."

Newark's great building association, The Old Home, has for 30 years been a "promoter of good citizenship" in Newark. Its bonds have been aided in buying their own homes, at many other times, and have been encouraged in systematic living.

Roosevelt Lectures on Biological Analogies.

GUEST OF OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Growth and Decay of Civilization. The Birth Rate Question—Calls England Greatest Empire and Declares the Man Who Tries to One Worth While.

Oxford University, England, July 7. —Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered the following lecture on "Biological Analogies in History" at Oxford University:

An American who, in response to such an invitation as I have received, speaks in this university of ancient and modern history cannot but feel with peculiar vividness the interest and charm of his surroundings, fraught as they are with a thousand associations. You great universities and all the memories that make them great are living realities in the minds of scores of thousands of men who have never seen them and who dwell across the seas in other lands.

Moreover, these associations are no stronger in the men of English stock than in those who are not. My people have been for eight generations in America, but in one thing I am like the Americans of tomorrow rather than like many of the Americans of today, for I have in my veins the blood of men who came from many different European races. The ethnic makeup of our people is slowly changing, so that constantly the race tends to become more and more akin to that of those Americans who, like myself, are of the old stock, but not mainly of English stock.

Yet I think that as time goes by mutual respect, understanding and sympathy among the English speaking peoples grow greater and not less. Any of my ancestors, Hollander or Huguenot, Scotchman or Irishman, who had come to Oxford in "the spacious days of great Elizabeth" would have felt far more alien than I, their descendant, now feel.

Paleontology History.
When dealing with the changes, cataclysmic or otherwise, which divide one period of paleontological history from another we can sometimes assign causes and again we cannot even guess at them. In the case of single species or of faunas of very restricted localities the explanation is often self evident.

A comparatively slight change in the amount of moisture in the climate, with the attendant change in vegetation, might readily mean the destruction of a group of huge herbivores with a bodily size such that they needed a vast quantity of food and with teeth so weak or so peculiar that but one or two kinds of plants could furnish this food.

Again, we now know that the most deadly foes of the higher forms of life are various lower forms of life, such as insects or microscopic creatures conveyed into the blood by insects. There are districts in South America where many large animals, wild and domestic, cannot live because of the presence either of certain ticks or of certain baleful flies.

In Africa there is a terrible genus of poison fly, each species acting as the host of microscopic creatures which are deadly to certain of the higher vertebrates. One of these species, though harmless to man, is fatal to all domestic animals, and this although harmless to the closely related wild kinsfolk of these animals.

Another is fatal to man himself, being the cause of the "sleeping sickness," which in many large districts has killed out the entire population. Of course the development or the extension of the range of any such insects and any one of many other causes which we see actually at work around us would readily account for the destruction of some given species or even for the destruction of several species in a limited area of country.

When whole faunal groups die out over large areas the question is different and may or may not be susceptible of explanation with the knowledge we actually possess.

In the old arctogeal continent, for instance, in what is now Europe, Asia and North America, the glacial period made a complete but, of course, explicable change in the faunal life of the region. At one time the continent held a rich and varied fauna. Then a period of great cold supervened, and a different fauna succeeded the first. The explanation of the change is obvious.

"Death" of Civilization.
When we speak of the "death" of a tribe, a nation or a civilization the term may be used for either one or two totally different processes, the analogy with what occurs in biological history being complete. Certain tribes of savages—the Tasmanians, for instance—and various little clans of American Indians have within the last century or two completely died out.

All of the individuals have perished, leaving no descendants, and the blood has disappeared.

Certain other tribes of Indians have as tribes disappeared or are now disappearing, but their blood remains, being absorbed into the veins of the white intruders or of the black men introduced by these white intruders, so that in reality they are merely being transformed into something absolutely different from what they were.

In the United States, in the new state of Oklahoma, the Creeks, Cherokees, Chickasaws, Delawares and other tribes are in process of absorption into the mass of the white population. When the state was admitted, a couple of years ago, one of the two senators and three of the five representatives in congress were partly of Indian blood.

In but a few years these Indian tribes will have disappeared as completely as those that have actually died out, but the disappearance will be by absorption and transformation into the mass of the American population.

Growth and Decay.
Why do great artificial empires, whose citizens are knit by a bond of speech and culture much more than by a bond of blood, show periods of extraordinary growth and again of sudden or lingering decay? In some cases we can answer readily enough; in other cases we cannot as yet even guess what the proper answer should be. If in any such case the centrifugal forces overcome the centripetal, the nation will, of course, fly to pieces, and the reason for its failure to become a dominant force is patent to every one.

The minute that the spirit which finds its healthy development in local self government and is the antidote to the dangers of an extreme centralization develops into mere particularism, its inability to combine effectively for achievement of a common end, then it is hopeless to expect great results.

We Americans and you people of the British Isles alike need ever to keep in mind that among the many qualities indispensable to the success of a great democracy and second only to a high and stern sense of duty, of moral obligation, are self knowledge and self mastery.

In my hosts, and I may not agree in all our views. Some of you would think me a very radical democrat, as, for matter of that, I am, and my theory of imperialism would probably suit a certain type of forcible-feel-imperialist. But there are some points on which we must all agree if we think soundly. The precise form of government, democratic or otherwise, is the instrument, the tool, with which we work. It is important to have a good tool, but even if it is the best possible it is only a tool. No implement can ever take the place of the adding intelligence that wields it.

A very bad tool will ruin the work of the best craftsman, but a good tool in bad hands is no better. In the last analysis the all important factor in national greatness is national character.

The Birth Rate Question.

There are questions which we of the great civilized nations are ever tempted to ask of the future. Is our time of growth drawing to an end? Are we as nations soon to come under the rule of that great law of death which is itself but part of the great law of life? None can tell. Forces that we can see and other forces that are hidden or that can hardly be apprehended are at work all around us both for good and for evil. The growth in luxury, in love, in taste for rapid and frivolous excitement, is both evident and unalloyed.

The most ominous sign is the diminution in the birth rate, in the rate of natural increase, now to a larger or lesser degree shared by most of the civilized nations of central and western Europe, America and Australia, a diminution so great that if it continues for the next century at the rate which has obtained for the last twenty-five years, the more highly civilized people will be stationary or else have begun to go backward in population, and many of them will have already become very far backward.

There is much that should give us concern for the future, but there is much also that should give us hope. No man is apt to be mistaken when he looks at the present.

I believe with all my heart that a great future remains for us, but whether it does or not our duty is not altered. However the battle may go, the soldier's duty of the name will with utmost vigor do his allotted task and bear his part as valiantly in defeat as in victory.

Come what will, we belong to peoples who have yielded to the craving fear of being defeated. In the ages that have gone to the great nations, the nations that have expanded and that have played a mighty part in the world, have been the end grown old and weakened and perished, but so have the nations who only thought was to avoid all danger, all effort, who would risk nothing, who therefore gained nothing. In the end the same fate may overtake all alike, but the memory of the one type perishes with it, while the other leaves its mark deep on the history of all the future of mankind.

Nations Born Again.

A nation that seemingly dies may be born again, even though in the physical sense it utterly may get hand down a story of heroic achievement and for all time to come may profoundly influence the nations that arise in its place by the impress of what it has done.

Best of all is it to do our part well and at the same time to see our blood live young and vital in men and women fit to take up the task as we lay it down, for so shall our seed inherit the earth. But if this which is best is denied us, then at least it is ours to remember that if we choose we can be torchbearers, as our fathers were before us.

The torch has been handed on from nation to nation, from civilization to civilization, throughout all recorded time from the dim years before history dawned down to the blazing splendor of this twentieth century of ours.

While freely admitting all of our follies and weaknesses of today, it is yet more portentious to refuse to realize the incredible advance that has been made in ethical standards. I do not believe that there is the slightest necessary connection between any weakening of virile force and this advance in the moral standard, this growth of the sense of obligation to one's neighbor and of reluctance to do that neighbor wrong.

We need have scant patience with that silly cynicism which insists that kindness of character only accompanies weakness of character. On the contrary, just as in private life many of the men of strongest character are the very men of loftiest and most exalted morality so I believe that in national life as the ages go by we shall find that the permanent national types will more and more tend toward those in which, while the intellect stands high, character stands higher, in which rugged strength and courage, rugged capacity to resist wrongful aggression by others, will go hand in hand with a lofty scorn of doing wrong to others.

The Greatest Empire.

You belong to a nation which possesses the greatest empire upon which the sun has ever shone. I belong to a nation which is trying on a scale hitherto unexampled to work out the problems of government for, of and by the people, while at the same time doing the international duty of a great power.

But there are certain problems which both of us have to solve and as to which our standards should be the same. The Englishman, the man of the British Isles, in his various homes across the seas and the American both at home and abroad are brought into contact with utterly alien peoples; some with a civilization more ancient than our own, others still in or having but recently arisen from the barbarism which our people left behind ages ago.

The problems that arise are of well nigh inconceivable difficulty. They cannot be solved by the foolish sentimentality of stay at home people with little patent recipes and those cut and dried theories of the political nursery which have such limited applicability amid the crash of elemental forces.

Neither can they be solved by the raw brutality of the men who, whether at home or on the rough frontier of civilization, adopt might as the only standard of right in dealing with other men and treat alien races only as subjects for exploitation.

I hold that the laws of morality which should govern individuals in their dealings one with the other are just as binding concerning nations in their dealings one with the other. The application of the moral law must be different in the two cases, because in one case it has and in the other it has not the sanction of a civil law with force behind it. It would be foolish indeed to pay heed to the unwise persons who desire disarmament to be begun by the very peoples who of all others should not be left helpless before any possible foe. But we must reprobate quite as strongly both the leaders and the peoples who practice or encourage or condone aggression and iniquity by the strong at the expense of the weak.

We should tolerate lawlessness and wickedness neither by the weak nor by the strong, and both weak and strong we should in return treat with scrupulous fairness. The foreign policy of a great and self respecting country should be conducted on exactly the same plane of honor, of insistence upon one's own rights and of respect for the rights of others, as when a brave and honorable man is dealing with his fellows.

Permit me to support this statement of my own experience. For nearly eight years I was the head of a great nation and charged especially with the conduct of its foreign policy, and during those years I took no action with reference to any other people on the face of the earth that I would not have felt justified in taking as an individual in dealing with other individuals.

Try at Least.

I believe that we of the great civilized nations of today have a right to feel that long careers of achievement lie before our several countries. To each of us is vouchsafed the honorable privilege of doing his part, however small, in that work.

Let us strive hardily for success, even if by so doing we risk failure, spurning the poorer souls of small endeavor who know neither failure nor success.

Let us hope that our own blood shall continue in the land that our children and children's children to endless generations shall arise to take our places and play a mighty and dominant part in the world. But whether this be denied or granted by the years we shall not see, let at least the satisfaction be ours that we have carried onward the torch in our own day and generation. If we do this, then, as our eyes close and we go out into the darkness and other hands grasp the torch, at least we can say that our part has been done well and valiantly.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Big Monkey and Little Monkey

He Seemed Ready to Bite

"N the New York City," said daddy one evening, "some time ago they had a fair monkey who was so fierce that they had to keep it in a cage by itself."

"What's a fair monkey?" asked Jack and Evelyn together.

"It is a great big monkey," said daddy. "This monkey's name was Buldo. He was so very fierce that none of the keepers would dare go near him. He was more than twice as big and stronger than most men."

"One day, however, a strange thing happened. The zoo had received a number of small monkeys to be put in the cages, and one of them escaped. Before any one could stop him the little fellow jumped straight through the bars of Buldo's cage and went up to the big fellow. The keepers all felt very sorry for him, for they felt sure that the big fellow would kill him. But nothing of the sort happened. As soon as the monkey saw little gray Tommy, which was the tiny monkey's name, he caught him in his great hairy arms and carried him up to him and began to pet him."

"Why, daddy," said Evelyn, "the monkey must have been lonesome."

"That is just what was the trouble," said daddy. "He had been kept locked up so long that he was terribly lonesome. He would not let the little monkey go, and Tommy made his home in Buldo's cage. Tommy seemed to know that Buldo would not harm him and never tried to get away, but Buldo was so glad to have him there that when Tommy went too near the front of the cage Buldo reached out his long arm and gently pulled him back. It was a very funny sight."

Both of the children laughed at this, but they were sorry when daddy said: "I am sorry that the ending of this story is sad. You see, after Buldo and Tommy had lived together for about two years the monkey fell ill. He and Tommy had become very fast friends indeed, and the big monkey had been very good to the little fellow. When a pan of food was placed in the cage Buldo would let little Tommy go over it first and pick out whatever he wanted, and he did not show any anger when Tommy took most of the best portions. But after awhile, when Buldo became sick and weak, it was little Tommy's turn to be good to his big friend. When Buldo became too weak to get food for himself and the medicine that the keepers gave him did him no good little Tommy would bring food to him and try to coax him to eat. But it was no use, and after a short time the big monkey died."

"Tommy lived only two weeks after that. Of course he missed Buldo very much. The keepers say that perhaps he caught the illness from Buldo, but I think he died of a broken heart."
